Hello,

I am Jacq, comic book author.

I published at La Boîte à Bulles (France) in July 2021 "The homologated adventures of Paul and Tom" whose press reviews have been most encouraging (see all this on www.paulettom.com). In October 2022, a second album will be released: "Today is already worse than tomorrow" published by Ex-Aequo (France).

I allow myself to submit attached an album project (already well advanced) which is situated at the meeting of my main sources of inspiration: Laurel & Hardy, the ZAZ producers and Quentin Tarentino.

This gives "The Stup'hitman", a silent comic (so easy to export :-)) of gags in one page (ideal for pre-publication), with burlesque, absurd, and... bloody scenarios.

You will find attached 15 pages, but other scenarios are already written.

Hoping that this proposal will please you and will find its place in your editorial line.

Thank you already for reading me.

Best regards

Jacq
